Probe Mystery Crash Of 8 Thunderjets In Mass Flight

Richmond, Ind., June 9 (AP)—Army air force officials were tight-lipped today as they investigated the cause of the crash of eight P-84 Thunderjets, the biggest mass crash in jet aviation history.

Three pilots of the eight ill-fated jets were killed and two injured as the planes tumbled out of the sky near Richmond yesterday.

Other jets in the two flights of a 71-plane group enroute to Selfridge Field, Mich., were placed under an armed guard. They will "undergo a thorough check," an army air force spokesman at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, O., said.

He made no direct comment on the possibility of sabotage. But, he said, "Sabotage is always considered as a possibility until the crash cause is determined when the investigation is completed."

A censorship on further information was ordered by Col. C. F. Carter, deputy base commander. He ordered all personnel to give out absolutely no information regarding the plane crashes.

Two of the pilots who survived the crashes said their flight was streaking above a thunderstorm, but both said the storm was not the cause of the tragedy. Another pilot said "It wasn't the weather" which made him decide to land.

West Central Front, Korea, June 9 (AP)—Chinese Communists today began to abandon their "iron triangle" in North Korea in the face of strong United Nations attack.

The Chinese Reds were falling back toward Kumsong, 17 miles east of Pyongyang. Pyongyang is the top anchor of the triangle. Its other tips are Kumhwa on the east and Chorwon on the west.

Eighth Army forces captured two ridges as Red resistance slackened. The Chinese offered token, long-range opposition as U.N. troops gained 1,000 to 2,000 yards.

Reds Digging In

The Communists dug fresh trenches in their determination to block Allied tanks from bursting into the sprawling Pyongyang valley. Chorwon and Kumhwa are gateways to its rice paddies and plains.

Should they fall, the Reds might have to retreat 65 miles northeast to Wonsan at the other end of the valley.

The Reds changed their battle tactics. They pulled in men from the flanks and bunched them.

Despite this, they had to make a new withdrawal near the base of the triangle with its vital east-west road.

North Korean Reds fought had to prevent a flanking movement near the east end of Hwachon reservoir some 45 miles southeast of Kumhwa.

Gain Two Miles

U.N. troops there gained two miles in a day-long battle Friday but a Red regiment then attacked and drove them back.

North of the reservoir, Allied troops twice won a hill, only to be driven off each time by 600 Reds. The biggest gain for more than three miles was made northwest of Yonchon, a town seven miles inside North Korea on the road to Chorwon.

Near the road, Allied forces advanced two miles and then was rocked back a mile by 300 Communists. Fighting in the area lasted all Friday and Friday night. Field reports indicated it was continuing.

U. S. Would Welcome More Aid In Korea

London, June 9 (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley said today the United States would welcome more participation in the Korean war by other countries.

At the same time, Bradley said the U.S. was aware of the big forces Britain is using to fight Communist terrorists in Malaya and other areas of the Far East.

He said no more talks than usual on the possibility of a new cease fire attempt in Korea were going on between Britain and the United States. SOLO DENIES ELECTION FRAUD

Kansas City, June 9 (AP)—President Truman's congressman, Leonard Irving (D-Mo.) flatly denies federal charges that he misused funds of a labor union in his 1948 election campaign.

A Federal Grand Jury indicted the 53-year-old representative from Missouri's Fourth District yesterday on charges of violating the corrupt practices act and the Taft-Hartley law. The two indictments each contained 12 counts based on alleged expenditures of $3,000 in funds of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Construction union (AFL).

Irving, president and business manager of the union, flew home from Washington last night and later issued a statement.

"I am not guilty and I have not the slightest fear of being convicted," he said.

His attorney, Cliff Langsdale, said Irving will enter a plea of innocent Monday before U.S. District Judge Richard M. Duncan at which time bail probably will be fixed and posted.

U. S. Puts Limit On Forces For UN

United Nations, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—The United Nations has notified the United Nations that its contribution toward a permanent U.N. Security Force will be limited at present to the forces now in Korea.

Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, acting chief of the U.S. delegation, told Secretary-General Trygve Lie last night, however, that American forces assigned to Europe under the North Atlantic Pact might be made available to the U.N. under appropriate circumstances.

Gross's letter was in reply to an inquiry sent out by the General Assembly's Collective Measures committee as to how many and what type forces the 60 member nations could earmark for U.N. use in future emergencies.

This operation is a part of the Acheson plan outlined in the resolution "uniting for peace" which was adopted by the assembly last fall. Gross said the whole question would be reviewed at the end of the Korean fighting, and probably would be kept under constant review in the light of changing circumstances.

VIC RASCHI OF YANKEES SNAPS CHISOX STREAK

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Maybe White Sox fans should try the black cat and rabbit's foot curse on Vic (never lost in Chicago) Raschi.

It worked in Cleveland where the citizens routed the Eddie Lopat jinx with a strategic application of one black tabby and 15,000 rabbit's feet. Chicago trusted in Paul Richard's black magic. It wasn't enough as Raschi turned back the Sox, 4-2, on seven hits.

Comiskey park customers who never have seen the husky New York Yankee ace lose a game must rate him in the Walter Johnson class. Both losses in his 13-2 lifetime record against the Sox were suffered at Yankee stadium.

Feller Beats Boston
But the Sox can console themselves with a 3½ game lead and the knowledge that Raschi can't work every day. Frank Shea, today's foe, may be a softer touch. Three big games remain in this first important series of the season.

Raschi smashed the Sox's six-game win streak last night before 53,490 fans, a new Comiskey park attendance record. The old high was 53,325 for a doubleheader with Cleveland, May 15, 1949 when old Satch Paige was still around.

Bobby Feller, only one win behind Raschi with his 8-1 record, dusted off Boston, 7-1, to get revenge for his one loss. It was Boston's seventh defeat in 10 starts since leaving friendly Fenway.

Feller ended Dom DiMaggio's consecutive game hitting streak at 27 games. Dom fled out three times and grounded out twice. He hit .403 during his streak.

Detroit Wins
Detroit cut loose with eight runs in the third inning to smother Philadelphia, 9-2, while Dizzy Trout scattered nine hits for his third win. The Tigers sent 12 men to the plate in the third to face loser Carl Scheib and Morris Martin. Jerry Priddy had two singles in the inning.

Rain washed out the Washington-St. Louis night game with the Senators leading 4-1 at the end of four innings.

The National league all-night schedule was cut to one game by rain. Chicago at New York, Pittsburgh at Brooklyn and Cincinnati at Philadelphia all were postponed.

They managed to play at Boston where rookie Joe Presko of the St. Louis stopped the Braves with six hits, 2-1. The win gave the Cards undisputed possession of second place, six games behind the idle Dodgers.

IDAVILLE VIA SHUTOUT
Idaville moved into a three-way tie for second place in the Cumberland County Baseball league by defeating the Friendship Firemen 5-2 Friday evening at Idaville. Ronnie Kump, Cashtown, allowed eight hits and fanned eight for the winners.

"Little Dynamite" Clings To Life

Washington, June 9 (AP)—Little Dynamite, 21-year-old negro featherweight injured in a bout here Thursday night, still clung early today to his 50-50 chance for life.

Elijah Williams, right name of the popular rough and tumble battler, fractured the base of his skull and injured his brain when he fell after receiving a hard right to the head from Gene Smith, another well liked negro featherweight. Smith's victory over Dynamite gave him the district featherweight title, and his 22nd win in a row.

Williams was hurt in the tenth and last round of a fight that had been a toe-to-toe slugfests match all the way.

At Garfield hospital an emergency operation was performed and his chances were given as no better than even. The hospital reported Williams' condition unchanged some 27 hours after he was injured.

MORE REPORTS BILL VEECK IS BUYING BROWNS

St. Louis, June 9 (AP)—Reports persisted today, despite denials by the principals, that the long-rumored sale of the St. Louis Browns to Bill Veeck is nearing completion.

There have been recurring reports the club would be sold almost from the day that Bill and Charlie Dewitt assumed control of the club two and a half years ago.

But never have they flown so thick and fast. There were several different versions, but they jibed on these two points: The sale to Veeck, former owner of the Cleveland Indians, may be completed at any moment, or already has been completed, and the Browns will remain in St. Louis.

Assailed Statements
Contacted in Chicago, Veeck smilingly asked reporters: "Why should I buy them? Now that the White Sox acquired Don Lenhardt (from the Browns) I can see the St. Louis ball club here."

But the Milwaukee Journal said Veeck told it in a telephone conversation that only a few details on the transaction remained to be worked out. The newspaper quoted Veeck as saying, "For a while at least we will try to buck the Cardinals in St. Louis."

The Dewitt brothers were besieged with inquiries. "If and when we sell the ball club, it will not come out as a rumor but as a formal announcement," said Bill, president of the club.

Charlie, the vice president, chimed in: "If Veeck ever gets the ball club, it won't be announced as a rumor. Veeck has too great a flair for publicity for that."

"Veeck never has made us an offer for the ball club," Charlie added.

Sports Roundup
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 9 (AP)—Early this spring the Kansas City Blues caused a minor baseball sensation by announcing they would "experiment with daylight games. . . . How is it working out? . . . Well, General Manager Parke Carroll points out that up to June 3 the park had been opened 20 times, 11 for Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday daylight contests. . . . And if the Blues weren't leading the league in attendance, they were close to it. . . . "But don't get me wrong," Parke adds. "The main reason attendance is satisfactory is that we are winning." . . . Carroll figures his club might draw a few more fans on Wednesday and Saturday nights, but that the after-dusk fans get plenty of chances to see the club on four nights a week.

Result is bigger crowds those four nights and different set of fans in the afternoons. . . . "I believe our over-all attendance over the season will be increased as a result of our policy." . . . Maybe that's an answer for minor league clubs suffering from malnutrition of the treasury—some day games, good promotion and a winning ball club.

NAME DROPPER
Horace Wade, the literate Monmouth Park publicist, reports there were two Irishmen, Pat and Mike. . . . These two, both racing guys, ostensibly buried the hatchet after last year's enmity and as a grand gesture, Mike asked permission to name his best stallion for Pat. . . . It was given and the breeder then offered the free service of his stallion, Pat O'Brien, to anyone who would let him name the offspring of the mating. . . . Pat wasn't exactly pleased a year or so later when a perusal of the stud book showed such names as "A Thief, By Pat O'Brien"; "A Drunkard, By Pat O'Brien"; "A Scoundrel, By Pat O'Brien," etc. etc.

SPORTSPOURRI
Airmail report from Harry Hannin, boss of the South American division of the Harlem Globetrotters, says the touring team drew 367,476 customers in 23 nights in Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina. . . . Tommy Brown, just sold to the Phillies, claimed his ambition was to become "the first ten-year man to play less than 100 games in the majors." . . .

Special Softball Meeting On June 14

A special league meeting has been scheduled for that evening at 8:30 o'clock, following the exercises, at the Moose home.

Next week's schedule follows: Monday—Texas Lunch vs. VFW, Moose vs. Stanton Legion; Tuesday—Elks vs. Moose, Stanton Legion vs. Glenn L. Bream garage; Wednesday—Elks vs. Elks, Moose vs. Glenn L. Sherdel To Attend Cards' Celebration

"Wee Willie" Sherdel, McSherrystown, star left-handed hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals of the National league during the 1920's, will be among the guests of honor when the present Card organization pays tribute to the 1926 team which won the league title and World Series.

The celebration is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24, when the Cards will be host to the Boston Braves.

Sherdel, now a steward at the Hanover Moose home, led the National league pitchers in 1925 and in 1928 twirled 21 victories.

Immediate indications were that the Quakers might find it hard to arrange a representative schedule to present on the new medium.

Dartmouth and Columbia said flatly they wouldn't play Penn as long as the Quakers remain out of the good graces of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

Two others on Penn's 1951 card—California and Cornell—have indicated they might be hesitant about playing an institution not following the rules while Princeton and Navy kept their attitudes secret.

William & Mary announced it would honor existing contracts regardless. Army and Wisconsin are ready to follow suit.

Penn's schedule, with all but the Wisconsin game at home, follows: Sept. 29—California; Oct. 6—Dartmouth; Oct. 13—Princeton; Oct. 20—Columbia; Oct. 27—Navy; Nov. 3—William and Mary; Nov. 10—Wisconsin; Nov. 17—Army; Nov. 24—Cornell.

Penn dropped a bombshell this week when it announced it planned a 1951 football television program despite a moratorium adopted by the NCAA.

NCAA Ruling Meted Out
The moratorium calls for a few televised games on an experimental basis. Penn disclosed plans for a full home television program.

The NCAA immediately took disciplinary action, labeling the Quakers a "member not in good standing."

This doesn't call for an absolute boycott but leaves the matter of continuing relationships up to members. The edict does toss the chastened members out of NCAA-sponsored events, such as track, tennis, golf.

But the questions were raised whether Penn would be permitted to row in the national regatta at Marietta, Ohio, next Saturday (the stewards may decide at a meeting Tuesday) and whether members might boycott Penn's ancient relays, an annual track feature.

List Alternatives
All parties in the television dispute remained firm today and these seemed the alternatives:

1. Penn may relent and be returned to good standing.
2. Penn may not relent and may back the issue alone, penalizing its athletic program.

3. Penn may continue in its stand and find strong followers among others such as Notre Dame and Army and thus force the NCAA to give up its moratorium lest it split the membership ranks wide open. The NCAA was forced to yield on a similar issue—the sanity code.

There was no immediate break in the ranks of other members, however.

Notre Dame, reportedly ready to announce a $500,000 TV football deal, deferred any action on the touchy problem at a meeting of the faculty athletic board yesterday.

Irish officials talked television but said their report would be submitted to Father John J. Cavanaugh, university president who will have the final say. "No immediate decision is anticipated," said Athletic Director Edward (Moose) Krause.

Interstate League
(By The Associated Press)

The two top teams in the Interstate league, first-place Hagerstown and runner-up Lancaster, open a week-end series tonight in a battle for the No. 1 spot.

Lancaster is only one and a half games behind the Braves, gaining a full game last night by walloping seventh-place York 8-2 while Hagerstown was trounced by Allentown 15-3.

Allentown hitters clubbed a pair of Hagerstown pitchers for 18 hits to give the Braves their worst shelling of the season.

Niles Jordan pitched a one-hit shutout to give Wilmington a 3-0 victory over Sunbury in the first game of a doubleheader. The nightcap was halted by rain in the ninth inning with the score tied at 2-2.

The Harrisburg-Salisbury game was postponed because of rain.

PENN MAY HAVE DIFFICULTY IN LISTING GAMES

New York, June 9 (AP)—The first chill of a potential boycott fell today on the University of Pennsylvania, which insists it will disband the parent organization and televise football games.

Immediate indications were that the Quakers might find it hard to arrange a representative schedule to present on the new medium.

Blame Cigaret For Blaze At Raceway
Buffalo, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—Two fire officials say a carelessly-tossed cigarette probably caused the $350,000 blaze that took the lives of 31 harness race horses at Buffalo Raceway Thursday night.

Detective Sgt. Charles L. Haggerty of the Buffalo police arson squad and Chief Louis Kassel of the volunteer fire department of Amherst, a hamlet near the Hamburg track, were among those who investigated yesterday.

Although officials said they doubted if the cause ever would be established definitely, they discounted the possibility that the fire was deliberately set and Haggerty said: "Several men were seen smoking in and about the barn. Any one of them might have dropped the cigarette butt into the hay and straw."

Same Chaplain At Marine's 2nd Rites
Memphis, Tenn., June 9 (AP)—"Charles Robert Barnett—" The name was vaguely familiar to Lt. Preston D. Parsons, Protestant chaplain at the Memphis Naval Air Station, back in this country after service in Korea.

Yesterday he was asked to officiate at funeral services at the National cemetery here of a young marine killed in the Inchon invasion. Mrs. Margaret C. Nix of Savannah, Ga., had called the air station and asked for a chaplain for the second burial services for her son, Pfc. Charles Robert Barnett.

Lt. Parsons at last remembered. He had officiated at Pfc. Barnett's funeral in Korea soon after the young marine had fallen in battle.

Hijacker Is Held Under $12,000 Bail

Baltimore, June 9 (AP)—Charles B. Meushaw, 28, of Baltimore, was held in $12,000 bail today for a hearing on charges of hijacking a truck at Trainer, Pa., last Tuesday morning carrying $72,000 worth of cigarettes.

Meushaw, on probation since 1948 for a similar hijacking theft, was captured yesterday by FBI agents who chased him for eight blocks through downtown Baltimore.

Special Agent C. N. Carson said Meushaw and another man—still sought—hijacked a truck being driven from Richmond, Va., to Jersey City, N. J.

U. S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart set bond yesterday and ordered Meushaw to appear for a preliminary hearing next Wednesday.

PLAN TO APPEAL DEATH SENTENCE

Conway, S. C., June 9 (AP)—The state supreme court will be asked to save two young Carolinians from a July 20 date with the electric chair.

Lawyers for Shelton H. Gainey and Lander Ray Gantt will appeal a murder conviction returned here yesterday by an Horry county jury—the first one in this coastal county against white defendants.

Gantt, 21, and Gainey, 29, were sentenced to die for the June 26, 1949 slaying of Myrtle Beach cab driver Robert D. Oliver.

Solicitor J. Reuben Long asked them if they had anything to say when the jury verdict was read. "Not guilty," each declared.

They admitted in signed statements that they killed Oliver, crammed the body in the cab trunk and drove aimlessly through four states.

Their stories were so full of contradictions, however, that one of their lawyers conceded "I could not tell you if my life depended on it" what actually happened.

Gainey, from Hartsville, upset defense plans on the trial's fourth day with a complete new story of the killing. He said he shot Oliver at Wadesboro, N. C., after Oliver pulled a gun in an argument over cab fare.

HENRY D. THOREAU

On of the really great minds, not alone of America, but of the world, was that of Henry D. Thoreau whom most people know because of his masterpiece "Walden." But this great book was but a fragment from the mind of this unusual thinker.

Thoreau was born in Concord, Mass., in 1817, and died there in 1862. Only two of his books were published in his lifetime, "A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers" in 1849 and his "Walden" in 1854. It is difficult to understand why his first book sold only about three hundred copies, and the rest were stored for years in his cabin. It is a pity that his masterpiece, "Walden," long ago came into its own, together with many others of his books, published since his death. In 1906 a set of fourteen volumes of Thoreau's daily Journal was published and the first edition was immediately sold.

I understand that a new set is soon to be published for lovers of this great naturalist and courageous thinker. For years a single volume, compiled from the set of Journals, has been a much beloved volume of mine. I never seem to tire reading Thoreau. His thoughts seem so fresh and sincere. He lived alone in his little cabin on Walden Pond for two years, where much of his richest material was composed. Odell Shepard, who edited this single volume, commented on the Journals and said that "they show this alleged solitary constantly interested in domestic and 'villainous' happenings, often touched by tenderness and humor, always seeking for the perfect friend who never came to fill his almost tragic loneliness."

Many have been the books on Thoreau's "Walden" and some of his choice selections, and more and more books about Thoreau have been published, and I know of at least one Society in the Middle West that keeps up interest in this great writer and man. He was a lovable man, though quiet and rather uncommunicative. But he was known and loved by all the great writers of Concord at the time, including Emerson, Longfellow, Sanborn, Alcott, Channing and others.

When someone inquired just before Thoreau's death, as to whether he had made his peace with God, he replied: "We have never quarreled." A great man to know about, a great writer to read.

RICHER

He is one of the richest of men that I know.

As they say on the street he has "Oodles of dough."

But he grumbled and frowned.

When I asked what was wrong He explained he had stayed awake all the night long.

"I tossed on my pillow" he said with a yawn.

"Never once closed my eyes from the midnight to dawn."

I am worn out today, I am too tired to think.

It was sleep that I needed, but got not a wink."

I said, when complaining I thought he was through.

"I can prove that last night I was richer than you."

In amazement he questioned: "You richer than I?"

"Yes, I had that good sleep you weren't able to buy."

Tires are not the only thing motorists can't change without some kind of jack.

Fallacies By Radio

Editorially the press has long since learned how to present safety suggestions and what to suggest specifically by way of helping motorists cut down on accidents. But radio appears to have much to learn. Just a few minutes ago I heard an announcer telling drivers to be sure to dim their lights when approaching other cars at night. This, of course, isn't what he meant to say at all, but some inexperienced operators might take him literally. To dim the lights would be to switch to the parking lamps which do not give sufficient illumination. What the announcer meant to say was that drivers should use the floor button switch to drop the headlight rays upon approaching another car.

I have also been hearing that motorists should drive slowly. That, too, is something even the insurance people question. Slow driving is not necessarily safe driving. In fact, it often leads to foggy thinking and loss of alertness. It may tempt others to pass at danger points. Drive at whatever speed is customary for the amount of traffic flowing, the time of day, the weather conditions and character of the highway itself.

Maybe It's Simpler

When it is difficult to get into low or reverse gear for a start the temptation is to assume that the clutch plate is dragging, possibly because there is oil on it from a leaky rear main motor bearing retainer. Actually the problem may be simpler. This clashing of gears is also found if there is too much free play or "lash" in the clutch pedal. The normal play here is about an inch.

A friend of mine has an interesting list of things which he finds can drop off a car and which would make a racket sufficient to alarm him unless aware of what's happening. He got the idea when a car driven by a woman dropped one of its rear fender skirts. She thought she had sideswiped a car making a left turn.

Wheel covers are apt to fly off unless occasionally checked. When this happens they may cause considerable damage to the nearest fence and may be lost or completely damaged as they roll ahead of the car. The kind on my car costs $10 apiece, so I watch them carefully.

License plates, fan belts and lenses from auxiliary lights are also likely to sound alarming when they let go.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"Not all of the time-honored customs in car keeping have a place in today's scheme of things. I am thinking especially of the way some owners think they are flushing out the cooling system by running water from the garden hose into the radiator while the drains are opened. The cold water simply closes the motor thermostat and makes the process a dud. The right way to flush is to use a good cleansing solution and allow the engine to run at least a half hour until the coolant becomes hot, but not boiling. Then follow with a neutralizer solution when the engine is cold again. One precaution is to avoid overdoing it. Some of the sediment does serve to prevent small leaks."

When an electric gas gauge shows "full" under all conditions take it

More Sprays For Orchards Advised

Sprays designed to maintain protection against fruit rots are called for in letters sent out Friday by County Agent M. T. Hartman to the fruit growers of the county.

The letters call for the seventh spray on apple and peach and for the sixth spray on sour cherry.

Hartman said: "This is an important period for fruit rots. Cherry leaf spot is less severe than for several years but wet weather can make it a problem. In apples some scab is present in many orchards. Dry weather during May retarded the scab but wet weather will enable it to become more active. On peach brown rot blossom blight is present in many orchards. The peach scab fungus is active now."

The third cover spray is recommended for apple to control codling moth and other chewing insects, prevent scab, bitter and black rot, Brook's spot and sooty fungus. Growers who do not have a codling moth problem or do not wish to use DDT may use lead arsenate as the insecticide in the spray, Hartman noted.

as an illusion to be followed by a shock. The tank unit probably is burned out or may be improperly grounded as a result of loose screws or some paint under the screw heads. If tightening the screws doesn't help the situation, try grounding the tank to the chassis. If still puzzled, try removing the wire from the terminal of the tank unit and grounding it to the frame of the car. Now switch on the ignition. If the gauge still shows "full" the wire to the dash unit is open circuited. That calls for a replacement.

Three To Remember

If the car cannot be held on a downgrade without pumping on the foot brake pedal the indications are that there is leakage in the system. This may be due to scored walls of the brake master cylinder.

When the diaphragm of the vacuum pump portion of a fuel pump leaks the engine will be rough at idling, not only because the mixture is leaked out at the cylinders nearest the windshield wiper suction tube connection at the intake manifold but also because oil gets on the plugs of these cylinders.

One clue to overheating from a clogged upper radiator hose is a high operating temperature without loss of coolant.

Just Reversing It

Apparently the automobile industry also is wise to the comedian's trick of getting special results by reversing. For the laugh maker it brings a howl from the audience, but for the automobile engineer it results in less trouble for the car owner.

I was thinking of this when looking over one of the current fuel pumps which has the filter bowl upside down. At first glance this looks like a way to invite more leakage around the gasket, but actually the weight of the glass bowl helps check leakage. To me the chief advantage is having the bowl right up there where you can see it and where you are more likely to be reminded to check it more often.

Rough On Everybody

It doesn't seem to occur to many motor travelers but one of the leading causes of tire trouble is overloading. I think that the tire industry could do the public a great favor by stressing this fact. The margin of safety isn't anywhere near as healthy as the public believes, although there has been a welcome trend toward oversizing. An overloaded tire is as handicapped as one that is badly under or over-inflated. Usually on a tour there is a full passenger load for the average family, and on top of that the luggage compartment is crammed to the hilt. Unless the tires are considered this extra weight brings on excessive underinflation. It's rough on the sidewalls.

It has been missing for some years, but I believe that we're going to see a return to some public questioning of advertised statements about automobiles. I understand that the advertised horsepower of a competing car cannot be demonstrated by dynamometer test. This is going to make a lot of people ask questions—embarrassing questions. We're used to glowing praise for cars in the sort of childish advertising of cars by press, radio and television, but questioning statements about power, weight, performance and the like is something of a different hue. Look for some fireworks.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. In spite of everything I keep breaking valve springs in my car. Is there any way to prevent this?
H. L. M.

A. You will find that there is excessive crankcase dilution and that the springs actually rust. You should use this car for longer runs and work in a few hills so that the diluent in the oil will be forced into vapor and expelled through the crankcase vents. Also better check those vents as they may be partially clogged.

Q. I have been told that the lightest oil should be used in an engine to insure good lubrication for as long as the engine doesn't use more than a quart of oil in every 500 miles. Do you agree? J. J. McB.

A. No. This was the rule a few years ago but engineers now favor heavier oil which is needed for higher compression engines and higher road speeds. The light oil is correct for winter, however.

Q. In replacing the high tension wires from the distributor to the spark plugs how do you know which wires go to which plugs? N. B.

A. You need to know the firing order of the engine and also which way the distributor rotor turns.

Q. Not so long ago I heard a peculiar noise under the hood. It was like steam escaping a pressure cap on the radiator when an engine gets too hot. Since then, however, the engine hasn't run well. It acts very slow. R. N. C.

A. I think the timing chain jumped because it was worn and loose. At the mileage you have driven this car such a replacement would be in order.

Q. We have put several grease retainers in the left rear axle of my car, but lube still works out. Is it possible that the shaft has worn? Does oil tend to work out the left axle more than the right? Wm. L. L.

A. You apparently have not soaked the seals in oil before installing them. They must be soft and slightly expanded before they will do the job. There is no wear on the axle. Oil normally works out of the right axle more than the left.

Q. It seems to be difficult to feed gas to my motor smoothly. This results in rough action of the whole car. I handle the clutch smoothly enough. T. H. G.

A. The throttle valve may be sticky, or possibly the hinge of the accelerator pedal is rusty. Try some penetrating oil.

Q. I can't get the engine of my car to run smoothly with the car in high and running about 5 miles per hour. Do you think a valve job would help? H. F. Jr.

A. Aren't you a bit unreasonable. Modern engines are timed well advanced so that you will get high speed and good performance. You can get that crawling in high if you retard the spark, but I see no point in it.

ROME CLUE TO MISSING MEN

London, June 9 (AP) — A foreign office spokesman said today the telegram received from one of the two missing British diplomats by a relative here had come from Rome.

The spokesman said the telegram was from Guy Burgess, 40, former second secretary of the British embassy in Washington. It was to his mother, Mrs. J. R. Bassett, and said he was going on "long Mediterranean holiday."

The two telegrams received here by relatives of Donald D. MacLean, 38, head of the American department of the foreign office, had been filed at the Paris central post office.

William Ridsdale, foreign office spokesman, said the message from Burgess arrived here Thursday several hours after the messages to MacLean's relatives sent from Paris.

Newsman asked Ridsdale if authorities now believed the two men were separated.

"The search is still going on and we have no news of their whereabouts," Ridsdale replied.

"The authorities are not excluding any theory."

SCRIBE RECALLS WAR SCOOP HE COULDN'T WRITE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thirty-five years ago last month I was carrying about the secret—(there goes the old man, reminiscing again) x x x

As I was about to remark, in May, 1916, I was carrying about the unpublished knowledge that the long and anxiously awaited battle between the British grand fleet, under Admiral Sir J. R. Jellicoe (later Lord Jellicoe), and the German high seas fleet, under Admiral Reinhard Scheer, was about to take place.

It was attached to the London bureau of the AP, and a stern British censorship precluded mention of this historic meeting that was one of the events upon which the outcome of the First World War might depend. As a matter of fact I was one of a very few people who had the secret, and the way I stumbled onto it was more than passing strange.

Tip From Merchant

My lodgings were just off Hyde park in a quarter where stood many of London's old residences. Among them was the home of Admiral Jellicoe. In their midst was the little shop run by the old tobacconist who for a generation had served that staid neighborhood with tobacco and snuff. And of course he was the recipient of all the secrets and news of that area.

The tobacconist and I got to be quite pals, and so I wasn't surprised that day in May when, after glancing over his shoulder to be sure we were alone, he whispered:

"I've got a tremendous piece of news for you."

With that he related how Jellicoe had made a hurried trip back home from the grand fleet to see his wife. This devoted couple had gone to the little church nearby and there, accompanied by the rector, they had knelt at the altar while the famous admiral prayed for divine guidance in the great battle which was about to break. Then Jellicoe rushed back to his post.

News Well Guarded

"You see what that means, of course," said my tobacconist. "The big naval engagement is about to take place."

Well, I hurried to the AP bureau and told by chief the story. But there was nothing we could do about it. The censorship wouldn't pass a thing like that and so we had to hold our peace until May 31 when the fleets went into action off the Danish coast. It was the only time in that war when these rival battle fleets met, and John Bull's victory made him absolute master of the German fleet.

New Oxford

New Oxford—Gloria Ann, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Long, near here, has been under medical treatment for serious injury to fingers of one hand, sustained during a family picnic on Memorial Day when she dropped a heavy metal grate that had been heated to roast wieners on her hand. The injuries have been X-rayed and her hand placed in a sling, and it is expected that she will require treatment for some time.

Mrs. John Staub, Mrs. William Kohler, Miss Mabel Staub, Mrs. Mary Brashears, Mrs. Pius Flesham, Mrs. Arthur S. Noel, Mrs. Guy Staub, Mrs. George Lawrence and Mrs. William Yingling had the Block Rosary at their homes this week for members of the local Catholic parish.

Miss Mary Ann Bevenour, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linus Bevenour, near town, who was graduated at the recent exercises of the Deion Catholic high school, McSherrystown, has accepted a position as a clerk in a Hanover appliance store, and has begun her duties.

Member of the congregation of the local Catholic church attended a special mass at the church during the week celebrated by the Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor, for the repose of the soul of Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia who died last week.

Miss Anna D. Hoyer, east of town, who has taught dancing in this section for several years, presented two recitals of her pupils during the week. Wednesday at the high school auditorium here under the auspices of the local Lions club, and Thursday at the auditorium of a Hanover school under the auspices of the PTA of the Hanover Street school in that city.

Mrs. Florence Markel, 87, who spent a large part of last year at the Kuhn Convalescent Home east of town, is now residing in a house trailer which she purchased and had placed on the grounds of the old "Richter Homestead" between here and Hanover. Mrs. Markel is a member of the Richter family. For many years she was a teacher in Adams county schools. Her relatives now live near her but she is able to attend to light household duties without their assistance. She is able to get about and to read and visit with friends.

The men of the Holy Name society of the local Catholic parish conducted a public card party during the week at the parochial hall for the benefit of the church.

PROBE PRICE WAR IN COTHAM

New York, June 9 (AP)—The city-wide sagging price war has touched off a lengthy New York state legislative probe into the trade secrets of the retail merchandising business.

As the bargain-buying rush slowed to a walk, the legislature's unfair trade practices committee held a day-long hearing Thursday on complaints leveled chiefly at Macy's, which started hacking at fair-trade price tags more than a week ago.

Macy's was met price-for-price by Gimbel's, and the war spread through the city and to many other communities across the nation.

The New York state committee is headed by Assembly Democratic Minority leader Irwin Steingut.

Called Publicity Stunt
After hearing some two dozen witnesses, the committee held a closed session.

Later, it announced that the hearings probably would last six months or until the legislature meets next January. Steingut said the committee will meet next in Buffalo, N. Y., but that no date had been set.

Most of the hearing witnesses criticized Macy's as having staged a "phony price war" as a "publicity stunt." Macy's made no comment.

A U.S. Supreme Court decision voiding a section of the fair-trade act led the big store to start its price reductions on price-fixed brand-name merchandise.

BOXER GETS TIPS

Kansas City, June 8 (AP)—When Mr. and Mrs. Barney Mahoney returned home Wednesday night they found vases overturned and signs of disorder. In the kitchen they found the culprit, a tipsy dog. Their pet boxer, usually well-mannered, had knocked a bottle of wine off a table, lapped it up and gone on the spree.

Woman Wiser Than Wiser, Her Lover

Los Angeles, June 9 (AP)—"This," the judge observed, "is a man who has loved not wisely but too well and too often."

Whereupon he ordered Chester A. Wiser, 52, to pay back $5,807 to Mrs. Fern Stacey, a divorcee. She sued to recover the money on the ground that Wiser, a traveling salesman, fraudulently represented to her that he was single.

In matters of love, however, Mrs. Stacey was a wee bit wiser than Wiser. She discovered he has been married for 18 years.

THOUSANDS OF DETECTIVES ON DIPLOMAT HUNT

London, June 9 (P)—Thousands of detectives and intelligence agents ranged through western Europe today searching for two British diplomats who may have disappeared behind the iron curtain with top-level Anglo-American secrets.

It bids fair to be the biggest and most spectacular manhunt in Europe's history.

L. E. Wilkinson, deputy superintendent of Scotland Yard's famed counterespionage agency, the Special Branch, flew to Paris to take part in the search. He speaks fluent Russian and French and is an expert on Soviet spy methods.

Officials here, however, continued to insist that there is no reason to suspect the two of attempting to flee to Russia.

The missing men—Donald D. MacLean, 38, acting head of the Foreign Office's American section, and Guy Burgess, 40, former second secretary of the British embassy in Washington—left few tangible clues behind them.

These were three telegrams to their families—which the foreign office assumes are authentic—and the route they took from London to Paris.

The foreign office said the wires were handed in to the Central Paris post office by a mysterious "third man." The semi-official newspaper, Daily Herald, said, however, that the telegram to Burgess' mother was sent from Rome. It said only that he planned a "long Mediterranean holiday."

MacLean's message to his American-born wife, Melinda, said: "Had to leave unexpectedly. Sorry, darling. I love you. Please do not stop loving me, Donald."

His mother received a wire saying not to worry.

Trial Ends At Rennes

Diplomats and investigators theorized that either the two had separated or were using telegrams to lay a false scent.

Working painstakingly over the rapidly cooling trail, Scotland Yard and France's Surete have worked out the following route:

The two men left London May 25 in a speedy hired car which they abandoned in Southampton. There they boarded an excursion steamer which took them to the French channel resort of St. Malo. They hired a taxi which took them about 45 miles to Rennes where they planned to catch an afternoon train to Paris May 26.

There the trail ends. If the two diplomats were pro-Communists fleeing to Russia it appeared to be a secret from London's Communist Daily Worker. That paper published a factual account of the story with none of the chortling that might be expected if it thought the British government would be politically embarrassed by the disappearance.

PLANS READY ON 'CAMP LITTLE' FOR SCOUTERS

"Camp Little," summer day camp for members of the Littlestown Girl Scouts, will be conducted from Monday, June 18, through Friday, June 22, for girls from age seven to 17 inclusive. Camp will be conducted at St. John's grove, near town. A program has been arranged for each day and Mrs. Carroll E. Arter, leader of Troop 15, will be the leader for "Camp Little." The girls will arrive at the grove in the morning, and each one will take her own lunch unless group cooking has been planned as an out of door feature. The scouts will return home late in the afternoon.

The camp will be divided into units according to age. Each unit will be under the direction of competent adult counselors. Special counselors will be present for some parts of the program. Some of the activities to be included in the schedule are arts and crafts, hiking, outdoor cooking, folk dancing, dramatics, group games and swimming.

A registered nurse will be in attendance each day and a doctor will be available upon call. Insurance will be carried on all the girls and the cost will be included in the camper's fee. Those who will participate in swimming will be given an examination of the first day of camp.

Proper dress for the camp is to be provided by each scout and will include: a camp suit or wash dress, a sweater, comfortable shoes, a bandanna or beret, a "sit upon" (if the camper does not have one from previous years they will be made during the week) a drink cup, a pencil and a jack knife. Milk will be furnished daily to the girls. Registration blanks are to be filled out and returned to the individual troop leaders by Sunday, June 10. Volunteer helpers still are needed and anyone wishing to assist with the camp should notify Mrs. Arter.

To Buy Furnishings

It was decided to purchase drapes and furniture covers for the living room at the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 6954, Veterans of Foreign Wars' home on West King street, at the meeting of the Post Auxiliary held on Thursday evening at the home. Twenty-four folding chairs have already been secured for the living room. The first June meeting was in charge of the president, Helen Jacobs. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Helen Garner, and the acting treasurer, Mrs. Arlene Blocher. Betty Lee Daley was accepted and initiated into membership.

The group decided to make donations to the Department president's fund and to the Patriotic Veterans fund. The auxiliary voted a contribution of $25 to the Joint Veterans' fund for the community memorial recently erected on the site of the honor roll on South Queen street, in honor of all the men and women of the town who have served in any war. The following were appointed to attend the district encampment on July 12, 13 and 14 at Philadelphia: Helen Jacobs, president, Mrs. Grace Rose, Mrs. Madeline Bloom and Mrs. Ruth Dooley, delegates, and Mrs. Otilie Weaver as alternate. Miss Beulah Wintrose was appointed as auxiliary historian. The 21st district encampment will be held in Gettysburg on Sunday afternoon. The delegates are Mrs. Ruth Crouse, Mrs. Otilie Weaver and Mrs. Madeline Bloom, and the alternates are Mrs. Ruth Dooley, Mildred Smith and Hazel Crabbs. Those planning to attend the encampment are to meet at the post home at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

The guess package was contributed by Mildred Weaver and was received by Helen Jacobs. The members of auxiliary extend their thanks to the people of the community for making the poppy drive and the clothing drive a success. All of the receipts of the poppy drive will be used in veteran hospitals, only. The auxiliary sent 500 pounds of clothing to Korean War refugees. The president presented a pin, a gift of the auxiliary, to Mrs. Helen Garner, past president. The next meeting of the organization will be held Thursday, July 10, at the post home. The meeting was postponed from the first Thursday, due to the July holiday, and will not be held the second Thursday, due to the encampment. The meeting was closed with refreshments served to the 21 members in attendance, by the June refreshment committee composed of Mildred Reaver, Kathryn Weaver and Ruth Dooley.

On Camping Trip

Members of Littlestown Girl Scout Troop No. 15 spent Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday camping at Pennsylvania Grand Canyon at Blackwell. The canyon is located near Ansonia on route 6 on the road to Jersey Shore along the west branch of the Susquehanna. The canyon is approximately one and one-half miles wide and from 1,000 to 1,400 feet deep. The Pine creek at Blackwell is the famous trout stream used by early man and was the main source of water for the Indians. It is the traditional home of the black and red panther and the huge elk. It was the original boundary between the Indian territory and that of the white man.

Lost Sleep Saves Life Of Officer

Tokyo, June 9 (P)—Lt. John P. Moffitt, 424 Hodgson St., Oxford, Pa., returned to his pup tent after a Communist bombardment in Korea to catch up on lost sleep.

When he looked at his cot he decided it was sleep well lost. The neatly-folded blankets were ripped and a sharp shell fragment was embedded in the wooden frame. The fragment had passed across the cot right where Moffitt's neck would have been.

caping unhurt, and another parachuted safely. The air force withheld names of the dead pilots pending notification of relatives.

No one could explain what occurred to cause eight planes to crash from a formation of 34 at the same time. The air force quickly dropped a curtain of secrecy over its investigation.

Country folk in a 25-mile radius north and west of Richmond were horrified as they saw broken planes tumbling out of the sky.

Mrs. Fred Musser, near whose home northwest of Richmond two F-84s crashed and killed their pilots, said she thought she and her five children were caught in an enemy bombing raid. One plane crashed almost in their front yard.

Fear'd Bombing Raid

"I heard the planes zooming around, and then heard a noise that sounded like thunder—only a lot worse," Mrs. Musser said.

"I ran outdoors and saw the first plane go down across the road from the Perfect Circle plant. And then suddenly there was an explosion almost right over my head—I thought sure it was an air raid and that those planes were dropping bombs."

Plane parts smashed four windows in the Musser house and tore several holes in the frame walls.

Harold Martin, a personnel officer of the Perfect Circle corporation, said the two planes crashed within a minute and both burned.

The third pilot killed crash-landed his plane near Mooreland, 25 miles northwest of Richmond.

The Grand Canyon is known as the Creator's masterpiece in Pennsylvania.

The scouts arrived at Blackwell on Monday and on Tuesday they hiked over the trail to Black mountain, which was about seven miles. Wednesday they went by car to Cedar Run road to Bradley Wall lookout to Colton Point to Ansonia. They also visited Harrison State park and there the girls saw beaver built dams and ponds. The scouts had a picnic lunch and returned that day by way of Wellsboro. Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Crouse, Jr., were guests of the scouts Tuesday evening and accompanied them on their Wednesday activities. On Thursday they returned home via the Valley road by the Jersey Shore. During the trip the scouts explored the three outstanding falls in the area.

The scouts lodged at the cottage owned by John F. Feaser of town, which is located at Blackwell. The following committees were in charge during the trip: Nutrition and food, Jean Blocher, Alvina Groft, Louella Miller, Betty Myers and Joan Shull; music and games, Joan Shull, Shirley Stonesifer and Diane Stambaugh; exploration, Ruthanna Good, Carol Jeffries, Nancy Kerahner, Dixie Nester, Laura Stock, Barbara Waltman and Shirley Brown. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Carroll E. Arter, the troop leader, Mr. Arter and Mr. Feaser.

MARSHALL'S VISIT TO TOKYO STIRS RUMORS

Tokyo, June 9 (P)—Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway spent many closely-guarded hours in conference today, sharpening speculation that something big was going to break in the Korean war.

At mid-day the two military leaders met for more than an hour at Ridgway's headquarters.

Later they lunched at the U.S. embassy and resumed sessions that continued late into the afternoon. There was no official announcement after the meetings.

Marshall has given no indication of the purpose of his visit except to say it was "purely military."

Rouses Peace Rumors

It stirred up peace rumors in Tokyo and the war area. In Pusan, Korea, the disturbed South Korean Legislature asked the republic's defense and foreign ministers for their opinion on the Marshall visit.

Syngman Rhee, president of the Korean Republic, said Koreans "will do something in desperation if the United Nations should make any decision contrary to our national security."

He was referring to rumors of a ceasefire at the 38th Parallel—old political boundary between Red North and Republican South Korea.

"We are fighting and will continue to fight to do without such a line," he declared. "Our aim and determination to fight communism will never change."

May Help Enemy

Republican Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said in a statement any ceasefire at the parallel "should be a danger signal to the free world."

He warned it might (1) allow Reds to put the finishing touches on a campaign to push the Allies into the sea or (2) permit them to shift the battleground to any area they choose.

Upon his arrival from Korea last night Marshall dismissed the peace rumors by telling reporters to ask Red China's Mao Tze-tung about that. He also said he had no new

Sprouses Mark Fifth Wedding Anniversary; He's 23, She's 84

Cat Hollow, Ky., June 9 (P)—Inflation and the Sprouse wedding anniversary arrived in Cat Hollow on the same day, Friday.

After five years of married life, Delbert (Shorty) Sprouse, 23, is doing sawmill work at $3 a day.

His wife, 84-year-old Grandma Sprouse, gave her consent for him to "work out," since farming conditions are bad. But she wonders.

"Know places where they're gettin' four dollars," she mused.

Otherwise, the fifth wedding anniversary of the Shorty Sprouses was just another day in their simple life.

"We ain't makin' no more fuss about it than we ever did," said Grandma.

As a result of the publicity their wedding got, much has happened to the Cat Hollow couple. A trip to New York, for example. Other things that would change a lot of people.

But Grandma and Shorty haven't changed. They go on living the lives they would have lived if the world hadn't found out about their marriage.

Shorty is working away from the farm because farming has been made next to impossible by the hard winter.

"Ground been so hard, can't bust it," Grandma said.

The winter left its mark on directives for Ridgway.

As Marshall was being interviewed, a reporter asked Ridgway: "Did Secretary Marshall bring any new instructions for you concerning the war?"

Confer With Van Fleet

"No comment," Ridgway smiled. Then the smile grew to a big grin. Marshall's plans have not been announced.

The two generals conferred Friday in Korea with the U.S. Eighth Army commander, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, and his corps and division commanders.

In Korea, Marshall told correspondents: "I came to Korea to congratulate our army leaders on their achievements."

Grandma, too. Their old hewn log cabin was drafty and she "caught a chill."

"Can't get rid of it," she said. But Grandma's still up and around. And she still enjoys a "chew" from her plug tobacco. She still takes care of the chickens and does some cooking, too.

She reckons the sixth year won't be any different from the first five.

the car and asked Russian Col. Alexander Smirnov if he would follow the truck and an American sedan.

The Russians refused. Maj. Hartel, assisted by a lieutenant and two G.I.s, then opened the driver's door.

Together they dragged the struggling stocky Russian sergeant driver, Vasil Elistratov, from his seat. Two G.I.s held Elistratov in an armlock until an American lieutenant entered the Russian's car.

Trouble With Car

The Russian sergeant was put into an American sedan.

For 15 minutes the Americans were unable to start the unfamiliar, German-built car. When they did they could not make it run.

Five members of the American escort team spent five minutes pushing the car back and forth in the small, dirty courtyard before they finally got it to move.

An American corporal was ordered to sit in the back of the Mercedes between the Russian colonel and his aide, Senior Lieut. Vasil Pivovarov. The convoy then roared off for Linz, 75 miles away, where the Russians were to be dumped at the Danube river bridge crossing to the Soviet zone town of Urfa. Urfa.

To a cynical, dissolute age, she brought morality; to a flippant era, she gave common sense; to England, she brought greatness. The 19th Century is still called by her name. . . . As with great people, so with fine furniture . . . individuality is remembered. If you are tired of the "same old furniture," why not try a visit to WENTZ'S, home of traditionally fine home furnishings?
